BURLINTON, ONTARIO, MARCH XX, 2008—Alter Moneta’s Western Canada branch announced this week the appointment of Andrew David as business development manager. David will forge ahead in the province of British Columbia and introduce both direct and vendor prospects to a myriad of innovative financing solutions for the transportation, construction, waste and manufacturing sectors.

“Andrew has a proven record of building relationships,” commented Chris Evered, vice president of sales in Western Canada and Maritime Provinces. “The high customer retention rate we retain is because of relationship based products, which makes him a perfect fit for our company.”

His prestigious background spans over 17 years, most recently with CIT Financial, in Vancouver as account executive. Prior to that he worked as business development manager for the PacLease franchise's in BC, where he was a multiple recipient of the President's Award Circle Winner for excellence in sales.

David’s motto has always been to work hard both in business and as a community volunteer. “Alter Moneta’s work ethic is parallel to my beliefs in working on developing yourself as a person which in turn builds your relationships in the industry” said David. He is working towards earning his C.I.T.T. designation in the transportation realm and has already earned his P. Log designation for logistics.
